Our new Fire Warden, Mr. McGnire in his travels about the place finds some evidences of the most extraordinary carelessness and neglect to protect against the chances of fire. In one place, in the very heart of the town, he found a short iron stove pipe discharging directly against the wooden support of a large wood house. In another the fire for domestic purposes was built directly against the wood of the house, with a slight projection of tin between.

The rain on Sunday night and Monday morning, pretty effectually washed down the streets and cleaned off the rubbish, which was mostly damped into the harbor for the natural purpose of extending the land and adding to His Majesty's domains. If however Hanolulu is to be kept open as a port, this will have to be picked up and returned to the town. In Kawaishao, where the ground is low, the disk of the formething debugging the

The Board of Education received a petition from Hilo, signed by a very large number of people, requesting the removal of Miss Ingraham. Improvements continue. New houses are going up on all sides, and as a rule of a better class of architecture than the old. It is however questionable whether the town is improved by the erection of large wooden buildings along thickly crowded streets. The corner of King and Fort deserved something better than another little wood house. The corner of Nucanu and Hotel has been torn away exposing to view something of the packed and crowded condition of that part of town. Probably the corner will be again built, with a huge fire trap after the style now popular on that street. Meantime the fire-proof store, building by Mr. Paiko farther along the street progresses and the public are immensely inconvenienced by the piles of brick, sand, and material filling half the street. and the public are immensely inconvenienced by the piles of brick, sand, and material filling half

The following communication was handed in by a friend a day or two ago: "The unfortunate affray at the race course on July 3rd, and which resulted in the arrest of the combatants, proved that all is not true about the sickly condition of our police force. In this instance, constable McKeague, whom we were told was not able to 'arrest a sick hen' did on that occasion, enter a crowd of rowdies and select his men and had them brought before a tribunal for trial. Such heroic conduct is commendable and bears a favorable comparison to the statement made about him by Mr. Kalua." The above item suggests the thought that our usually For San Francisco, per M W Tutts. July 13-Robert Stenert, E Liddell, L Cohen. statement made about him by Mr. Kalua." The above item suggests the thought that our usually urbane and courteous contemporary was very harsh week before last where it was hardly necessary to be so. It was reviewing the police question and took occasion to go outside of the subject to fling at Mr. Dayton. Opinions may differ as to fling at Mr. Dayton. Opinions may differ as to his ability as an officer, just as they may regarding the ability of this or the other journals of the place, but no one who knows Mr. Dayton doubts for a moment that he is a hard working and conscientious official, and that when not confined at his official business be can be found at his very pleasant home with his family. Rather harsh neighbor.

There was an alarm of fire last Wednesday night about II o'clock, and the Fire Department turned out in gallant style rushing out Beretania street with yells and shouts which made night hideous. This was proper however as it roused from sleep such people as were in danger of burning to death in their dreams. The fire was in a small building back of Mr. Wodehouse's place and was extinquished by throwing on dry earth as there was no water.

Later.—The fire was at Waikiki, and was simply a heap of trash burning, no damage.

Still Later.—There was no fire at all, the alarm was given by members of one company while at a little festa, for the purpose of drawing out the other engines that a trial of speed and skill might be had.

Later Yet.—The above are incorrect, the facts are that a member of one Fire Company got married that night and his rival in the effections of the damsel had the alarm sounded to break up the bliss of the pair.

Latest.—There are grains of truth only above.

The marriage took place, but the alarm was sounded by his friends to give celat and effect to the wedding festivities, which was done effectually as suggested.

The above reports are given just as received without any knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to their truth except as to the yells. Perhaps readers can extract the grains of truth therefrom and make a connected tale.

The Fourth of July was celebrated at Hilo on Saturday the 3rd by horse-racing, mule-racing, donkey-racing, boat-racing, and a variety of ramining matches, pienics, etc. The Hilo band commenced their round of serenades at about midnight of the 2d, and continued their music till nearly day dawn. The U.S. Commercial Agent of Hilo, Capt. Thos. Spencer, received his American friends and others, at 1 p.m. at his residence. Toasts, etc., were the order. The day passed off quistly, there being but few cases of drunkards visible on the streets and the disturbers of the peace were quickly locked up.

On the evening of June 30th the Father Victor Poirier of the Catholic Church of South Kona whilst visiting at Hilo, met with a severe accident by being accidentally knocked down and run over by a horse ridden furiously by a native in the dark. A broken shoulder places him under the doctor's care for a while.

The little foreign church of Hilo was most tastefully decorated with flowers on the evening of July lat. Conspicuous among them was one new to Hilo, and probably to the Islands—the Yerra Filaman Idea—a species of Aloe which blossoms only once in ten years. Its gorgeous white cluster of bell-shaped flowers stood upon the altar-table with a back ground of ferns, and in itself made a bouquet fit for a queen. The occasion was the marriage of one of Hilo's fair daughters, Miss Ella Hitchcock, to Mr. Loebenstein. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. A. O. Forbes, the bride being given away by her father, David Hitchcock, Esq. All Hillo was present at this interesting service. A reception followed at the parents' residence which was beautifully decorated. The bridal party took their way to the volcano the next day. Madame Pele, we think, must have given them a resounding sainte as they entered her dominisms, judging from the sharp earthquake shock felt in Hilo at 3 p. m. of that day.

As stated in our last issue, the company gave its first entertainment on the 6th a a crowded house. On Saturday svening last the performed to another good house, and the and ence seemed well pleased with the efforts p

Mr. Educa.—Sir: In your paper of June 23rd you gave directions how to make a copygraph. Let me tell you of a better way to make it. Take one part of gine and sir parts glycerine. Put the glue in water (enough to cover it) and let it be in it all night. The best way is to put it in an old tim, e.g., a mustard tim. In the morning decant the water and then put your tin containing the glue into a sauce-pan and let it boil for an hour or more and then put in the glycerine. Let that simmer for a quarter or half an hour, and then pour into the box you intend to use. Let it be for one day before using (the white lead, carbolic acid, etc., etc., are not needed.) The ink is made by taking seven tea-spoonfuls of alcohol and putting it into a cup. Put the cup in the sauce-pan of water and let it boil. Put a little salt in the water. When the water boils put a tea-spoonful of Aniline crystals in the alcohol—purple is the best; other colors will do. Put into a bottle and let cool. The other things are not necessary.

PENTE.

Alcohol.

1. People say drink a drop to keep the cold out. Will it keep the cold out? Experiments have been held upon hundreds of different animals and upon man in all conditions. The thermometer placed in the mouth will be from 14 to 114 or 2° below the point it stood before the man or lower animal came under the influence of alcohol.

2. It will make you fat. See the draymen and those who drink how fat they are! True they are stout, but it is a wrong kind of fat, a fat that will break down under any great pressure. It is a fatty degeneration, not real fat.

3. It will make you strong. Experiments prove that animals cannot lift so much under alcohol as thoy can before they have used it. It makes the heart beat thousands of beats in a day more than it should and so runs the danger of growing too large and so killing a person. The extra strength that a man feels under the influence of a glass is like a man who has $100 in the bank, but not any in his pocket. He goes to the bank and gets out $50, now his friend might say he was $50 better off. But he is not, In fact he is not so well off for he has lost the interest of his money. So if you drink you call on your reserved strength and have to pay heavy interest for it. Except in cases of great necessity, alcohol is not good. You can do without it and be better off. Therefore, do not use it.
